
How to find Sales Consultants with Boolean search strings

To hire Sales Consultants, use Boolean search on Google to find qualified Sales professionals. Modify our example Boolean strings to discover online profiles and resumes that meet your job requirements.

Generic search string to find Sales Consultants

If you are looking for resumes of Sales Consultants, start building your strings with the `intitle:` and `inurl:` operators. In our example, these operators look for the word “resume” in page titles and page urls. You can also include other words to aid your search, like “cv,” “bio” and “work experience.” Also, use the NOT (-) operator to exclude words that produce false positives (e.g. “sample” and “job.”) Here’s our basic string:

(intitle:resume OR inurl:resume) “sales consultant” -job -jobs -sample -examples

Searching for Sales Consultant profiles

Use Boolean strings on Google to find Sales Consultants who have profiles on social platforms. Include the `site:` operator and terms found exclusively on member profiles. For example:

- site:quora.com “sales consultant” “credentials & highlights”
- site:meetup.com “sales consultant” “member since”

Add more criteria in your search to find profiles that better match your requirements.
